ACEC-SC Annual Planning Retreat

Hyatt Regency Greenville, Greenville, SC

BE SURE YOU ARE THERE TO MEET, MINGLE, AND MASTERMIND

ACEC-SC made significant gains this year, including making budget on member dues, excellent participation in the joint meeting with SCDOT, receiving 17 Engineering Excellence Award entries, and graduating 19 Future Leaders Program participants.

Vice Chair Joe Greenburg is leading the planning sessions as next year's direction for ACEC-SC is being established.

You can help build on this year's successes by participating in the 2014 Retreat at the Hyatt Regency Greenville, March 21-23.

ACEC-SC's committees were also successful with positive outcomes working with the Office of the State Engineer, the SC Department of Health & Environmental Control, and our work with political subdivisions.

The Chef's Table Culinary Tour is a new addition for this year. This tour affords guests the opportunity to sit at the ACEC-SC has arranged for a special presentation to kick off the Planning Retreat. Leo Hoch, ACEC Executive Director of Business Relations and Membership, is coming from headquarters to lead a membership discussion. Membership is one of the 2014-2015 goals, and Leo is coming to get the mission underway. Prior to his presentation, he and ACEC-SC officers are making calls on prospective ACEC-SC members prior to the retreat.

tables of some of the city's top chefs and sample their signature dishes. Beyond the memorable culinary experiences, you will also learn fascinating insights into Greenville's rich history, culture, and architecture. This will be a group tour and is included in your registration fee. Registered spouses/guests are also included.

ACEC-SC is your organization; it needs your input, your participation, and your leadership. Your input in this planning process is vital.
